THE CRISIS IN FRANCE.

The Ministry of M. Dupuy Steps Down and Out.

THE COURTS VERSUS LAWMAKERS.

The Resignations Brought About by a Perpetual Railway subsidy Granted by a Former Government, Which the Present Chamber Desires to Amend or Revoke.

PARIS, Jan. 15.-The cabinet resigned yesterday, having been defeated in the chamber of deputies on the question of giving priority to an order of the day. Sunday evening M. Barthou, minister of public works, resigned his office for the reason that the council of state had decided against him in the matter of guarannesing the interest of the southern rail way lines. It became generally known that M. Alexandre Millerand, the well known Socialist deputy and editor in chief of The Petite Republique Francaise, would interpellate the government in regard to M. Barthou's resignation, and that the government would reply thereto. Consequently a large crowd gathered in the chamber to listen to the proceedings.

The question which led to the resignation of the ministry, which has precipitated a grave and difficult political crisis, is a wide one. It is really a question of whether the chamber of deputies is superior to the courts of France, and whether the chamber is able to set aside the constitution at will. In 1883 the government inade a contract with the Orleans and Midi railways, under the terms of which, in return for extain facilities for the transportation of war material, the government guaranteed the interest on the bonds of the railways. The government held that the guarantee expired in 1914, but the directors of the companies took a different view and construed the agreement to mean that the government guaranteed the interest in perpetuity. Suits were brought In the courts to settle the question.

In June last Mr. Barthou ordered the directors to indoese their bonds to the effect that the guarantee expired in 1:44. The directors refused to do so, and the case was then taken to the council of state, which in such matters, is the final court of appeal. The council on Wednesday has decided that the guarantee was perpetual. This decision, which a majority in the chamber of deputies claimed the right to reverse, was a complete negation of the contention of the cabinet and M. Barthou's action on the railway's guar-

In submitting his interpollation M. Millerand said it was not M. Barthon alone who had brought before the council of state the conventions between the state and the railway companies, but the whole cabinet. The decision of the council of state therefore affected the entire cabinet. yet only one minister. M. Barthou, had taken the correct attitude and resigned. The munistry was also to blame for sub-mitting to the council of state a question which purely belonged to the chamber of deputies to decide.

M. Millerand was frequently interrupted during the course of his speech by members of the center. He finally demanded that an inquiry be held to determine whether grounds existed for a criminal prosecution of M. David Raynal, who represents the Fourth district of Bordeaux in the chamber, and who was minister of public works in the Ferry cabinet of 1883. in which year the government entered into the contract with the railways. M. Millerand submitted to the house a resolution censuring the government for putting before the council of state a litigious question, and demanding that an inquiry be made into the conduct of M. Raynal.

M. Raynal agreed to the demand that an inquiry be made into his conduct and said: "I am certain that I shall be able to confound those who are thirsting for scandals and hungering for calumnies."

Prime Minister Dupuy then ascended the tribune and declared that after M. Raynal's acceptance of the demand for an inquiry the government would not op-

After further discussion the motion of M. Millerand was carried by a vote of 253

Eleven other orders of the day were submitted. Priority was given by a vote of 203 to 231 to one by M. Joseph Pourquery de Boisserin, Radical Republican, calling upon the government to vigorously defend the rights of the state as affected by the decision of the council of state. Prime Minister Dupuy declared that if this order of the day should be adopted the government would resign. A vote was finally taken on M. de Boisserin's motion, with the result that it was defeated, the vote standing 246 in favor to 261 against.

After several speeches and declarations had been made the chamber voted upon a proposal to grant priority to a motion by Professor Emile Trelat, Republican, which, of all the orders of the day, was the only one accepted by the government. This order of the day declared that the government adhered to the doctrine of the separation of powers and the non interference of the chamber with the judicial functions of the council of state.

Priority was refused to this motion by a vote of 203 to 211.

When the result of the vote was aunounced the ministers left the chamber and proceeded to the Palace of the Elysee, where they submitted their resignations to President Casimir-Perier. After the departure of the ministers the house unanimously adopted a motion made by M. Charles Krantz, Liberal Republican, who was commissioner general of the French section of the Chicago expo sition, reserving the rights of the state in regard to the railways guaranteed.

It is generally expected that M. Bourgeois, minister of public instruction in the cabinets of MM. Freychet and Loubet, and minister of justice in the Ribot cabinet, will succeed Prime Minister Dupuy.

IN SENATE AND HOUSE.

Senators Hill and Gorman Engage in a War of Words.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Stirring interest was given to the senate proceedings yesterday by the speeches of Senator Gorman, of Maryland, and Senator Hill, of New York, on various phases of the tariff and financial situation. At times the debate between the two distinguished Democratic senators took on an added interest from the keen personal criticism and satire directed at each other. Mr. Gorman spoke for two hours. The speech was mainly remarkable in its arrayal of facts to show that the tariff law which Mr. Gorman took so large a part in framing was wholly insufficient in raising the revenue absolutely requisite to carry on the government. In presenting this view Mr. German dwelt on the personal features of the contest over the Wilson bill, and arraigned Mr. Hill for his attitude then and since on the tariff question. The speech of Mr. Hill was equally vigorous and equally personal, and was received with the same close attention from his associates and intense interest in the galleries as had been shown to the Maryland senator. Mr. Hill directed his remarks mainly at Mr. Gorman, who sat only a few feet away. Senator Allison, of Iowa, also contribnted to the features of the day by a short but very effective presentation of the need of immediate legislation on the tariff to raise revenue, instead of further fruitless agitation of currency revision.

Filibustering tactics again defeated the Grout oleomargarine bill, which was under consideration during the morning hour in the house. By a special order from the rules committee the remainder of the day was consumed with business reported from the jude tary committee.

The Addicks Men, However, Refuse to Join the Higgins Adherents in Cancus, and the Battle Will be l'aught on the Floor

They, ox, Jan. 15 .- The joint caucus of the Republican's unters and members of the New Jersey h gislature last night, after a two hour session, placed General Will iam J. Sewell in nomination for the United States schate, to succeed John R. Me-Pheeson. General Sewell's nomination was decided upon by a vote of 56 out of 7% The opposition to the general was some what bitter on the part of a few, but did not materialize very extensively in the matter of votes.

Senator Bradley refused to go into the caucus at all and after the caucus had been in session about half an hour Assemblyman Olcott, who has been leading in the fight for Franklin Murphy, and Assemblymen Elsele. Drake and Zabriskie left the assembly chamber, where the caucus was being held. They left because of the defeat of a resolution to allow each member to vote in the joint session regardless of the caucus. They were followed shore; afterwards by Assemblyman Veorbers, of Bergen county.

After these gentlemen had left the caucus a motion to adjourn was defeated. with only two votes in its favor, and then the members got down to the business of making the nomination. Senator Voorhees was in the chair, and Leader Storrs, of the assembly, acted as temporary chairman. General Sewell's name was presented by Senator Rogers, of Camden, and was seconded by Senators Stokes, Skirm Hoffman, Senator Ketcham presented the name of Franklin Murphy. With the six absentees the number represented in the caucus was sixty-four. Of these all but eight voted for Sewell when the ballot was taken. The eight were Senator Kercham, Assemblymen Benedict, Bullock, Duncan, Harrison, George L. Smith,

C. A. Schober and Mock. Immidiately upon the announcement of the re-ult there was wild cheering in the state house corridors, which were crowded with the friends of General Sewell, including the 450 members of the William J. Sewell club, of Camden, which had come to Trenton with two bands of music, on a special train. General Sewell, who had been awaiting the news of the result at the Trenton Hause, was rendered a serenade and made a speech from the balcony of the hotel. S. nator Bradley says he will vote for l'ranklin Murphy in the joint meeting next week. Mr. Eisele also says he will vote for Murphy, unless requested by the latter not to do so. There are only eleven Democrats in both houses.

The absentees are all Addicks men, and when the committee returned it reported that Mr. Moore, who has charge of Addicks' fight for the United State senatorship, had stated to them that he would "stay away till hell froze over."

The Democratic caucus resulted in the choice of Chancellor James M. Walcotton joint ballot, the vote bring: Walcott, 6; John R. Nicholson, 2: E. W. Tunnell, 1. All of the Republican candidates, backed by their adherents, are on the ground, and the town is wild with excitement.

Speaker Mc-Mullen then declared Senator Higgins the nomince, and the caucus adjourned. The six Republicans who are said to favor Addicks refused positively to enter the caucus, remaining at their hotel during its progress. Six Thousand Men Out and Traffic Wholly Saspended. BROOKLYN, Jen. 15.-Nearly six thousand men, in luding motormen, conductors electricians and others employed on the various trolley railroads in this city are on strike. It is the first strike the trolley system has experienced, and is a most therough and complete one. The only road not tied up is the Brooklyn and Concy Island, better known as the Jay and Smith street line. President Henry W. Slocum had the men's demand under consideration, and when the committee of the district assembly called on him the strike, as far as concerned his road, was amicably settled. An agreement was signed, and now that road is the only one running in full force.

During the day Mr. Lewis, president of the Brooklyn Heights Railroad company. made a public statement in which he said the the up was without any just cause. He also notified the mayor, police commissloper, sher, if and fire commissioner of the strike, and asked for police protection. He sent a communication to the railroad commissioners at Albany and posted notices of warning at all the car houses notifying strikers to keep away. There were also warnings to keep the pence, but in spite of these numerous cases of interference occurred. There was some delay in transportation of the mails, but the mail cars were guarded by policemen. At the different power houses throughout the city everything was quiet. A short distance from each one the strikers kept their pickets on duty. The railroad depots were deserted, but pickets kept watch there also. It is expected that the companies will bring in in from other cities to take the strikers' places.

The motormen and conductors will, they claim, invoke the law against the companies. District Attorney Ridgeway has promised, they say, to bring the matter of violating the ten hour law before the grand jury. The men declare they are prepared to give testimony that will prove the guilt of the companies.

In the house a concurrent resolution favoring the election of United States senators by popular vote was defeated. Among bill- introduced were: Admitting women to practice law: requiring industrial insurance companies to give paid up policies after a certain time.

BROOKLYN'S TROLLEY STRIKE. BIN THOUSENED NOT AND TRAISE WHOLE

The City Treasurer of Dover, N.H., the Crilty One.

SHORTAGE FROM $75,000 TO $90,000

He Had flid the Books of the Bank, of Which He Was Cashier, and Refused to Disclose the Hiding Place-Death Rather

Dovem, N. H., Jan. 15,-Isaac F. Abbott, cashier of the Dover National bank, committed suicade by shooting at his home in this city lare yesterday afternoon. The saicide was the result of a discovery by Eank Examiner Dorr of a shortage in his accounts of between $75,000 and $90,000. The finances of the city, which he handled as city treasurer, may be involved, and the books of the bank have been destroyed or hidden where they cannot be found. When the treasurer was asked yesterday to report at the bank at once and produce the books he replied: "I removed the books last week, and I alone know where they are. If the bank people push me now no mortal will ever know what became of them." Shortly after this, however, Mr. Abbott appeared at the bank and gave a statement. When he presented it to Mr. Dorr he intimated that it would explain matters, and he hoped that no attempt would be made to place him under arrest, as he would never be taken alive. Then he left the bank and started for his home. About this time: United States Marshal Campbell arrived here. The latter at once procured a warrant for the arrest of Abbott, and went to the treasurer's residence. It was just as he reached the gate that a pistol shot rang out. Mr. Abbott's brother, hastening to the room, found the body of Abbott lying on the floor before a large mirror, into which the man had evidently looked to be sure of his aim. Death had followed the shot instantly. When the officer arrived at the door he was informed of the suicide, and at once departed, leaving the doubly afflicted family to their grief. The family consists of three children, Mrs. Abbott having died several years ago. The oldest is aged 22. Bank Examiner Dorr refuses to make known anything as to the statement given him by Mr. Abbott. It is expected that the assessment on stockholders will be about 40 per cent. on their holdings, but this cannot be accurately estimated until the exact amount of shortage is known.

Rumors of a shortage in Abbott's accounts gained currency on Friday, when Bank Examiner Dorr came here to examine the books of the bank. Cashlen ;bott, who had been under surveil since Saturday, was interviewed yest Caps, forenoon. Mr. Abbott admitted the accounts were short, but refused to $18how much. He would not say where tng money had gone or how long the shorts has existed. Yesterday morning the bank vault w opened, and soon after the notice v posted on the bank door that the just tion had suspended.

the lady I live with is just the other way. She knows what Pearline will do, and she wants it. She'd never let me iose my time trying to get things clean with soap-and she wouldn't stand it to have her clothes all worn out with rubbing, either."

That's the truth. The lack of Pearline comes just as hard on the mistress' clothes as it does on the laundress' back.

Send Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back. 437 JAMES PYLE, New York.

QUEER ASTRONOMY.

THAT OF THE CHINESE, FOR IT IS AS YET MERELY ASTROLOGY.

There Is No Telescope in the Peking Observerery, but Many Liaborate Instruments of No Apparent Use-Wonderful Bell In the Claimatery Tower.

Astronomy in China is in a very In wave condition. The observatory it Peking is the only one belonging to Chana which is or any importance. It is sugned upon a terrore, which runs alo 4 the torributions of the city and could, if necessary, be used as a for-

The instruments which it contains are remarkable for their historical interest and artistic beauty inther than for their scientific value. Perhaps the most mteresting of the c is the huge bronce quadrant sent by Louis MIV to the Clanese Engar r . ig i'r m the seventeemb e mery. To 1- probably the most modern and consequently the most accurate instrument in the whole collection. The chief piece of the observatory is an extremely ornate bronze instrument which was constructed by the chief astronomer of the Emperor Kublai-Khan in the thirteenth century. The form of the instrument somewhat resembles a modern equatorial, but its use is problematical. This astronomer, whose name was Kon Shou King, may be called the Napoleon of Chinese astronomy, for he was the first to construct instruments of any practical value, and the observatory owes to him nearly all its astronomical appliances. The gigantic celestial sphere is another object of interest. Though 6 feet in diameter and weighing more than a ton, yet it can be easily rotated by a child, so carefully is it balanced.

The instruments are all of very ornamental construction. Utility was a secondary consideration to appearance, and the native workmen who constructed them were far more concerned about the dragons with flames assuing from their mouths and the hideous figures adorning the instruments than they were about the accuracy of the divisions.

The number of men employed by the Celestial government to manage the observatory is very large. Including all the officials and salaried students, there are 200. There is a chancellor at the head, and after him are directors, subdirectors and assistant subdirectors without number. A post in the Peking observatory, though honorary, is considered to be a very important position, and the present chancellor is an uncle of the emperor.

His subordinates are also men of rank, the two directors having a right to the button of precious stones and a jeweled image of the sea raven, which is worn on the heart. Their offices are hereditary (about the only ones in China which are), because they alone have the calculation tables which the Jesuits introduced in the seventeenth century, and they keep them carefully hidden

One of the principal features in a modern observatory is a telescope. In the Peking observatory there is not a single telescope, and there never has been one, or at least there is no record of it. use which the Chinese make of astronomy. The only real value it has for them is to determine their numerous fast days and the dates of idolatrous feasts which the emperor periodically holds at the various temples when he executes the sacrifices and performs the rites laid down in the sacred books.

The astronomy of the Chinese was in fact and is yet merely astrology. The duty of fixing these dates falls upon the officials of the observatory, and the council of the board also meets on the last day of every year, and at midnight the chancellor solemnly ascertains the direction of the wind and informs the board. They then draw their conclusions, and the result is circulated far and wide.

The most favorable direction of the wind is from the northwest, and should this wind prevail every sort of happiness may be expected during the ensuing year. The Chinese year begins Feb. 14. On that date, 1894, the wind was from the southen-t.

The clocks used in the observatory are all water clocks, like the ancient clepsydra of the Romans, and an important part of the duties of the observatory officials is to ring the changes of the night watches on the great bell of Peking, which hangs in the bell tower and weighs 120,000 pounds, is 14 feet high, 31 f et in circumference and is made of brouze 9 mehes thick. It is struck by a wooden beam, so that the noise made by it is not proportionate to

In the drum tower are kept the incense sticks, which are continually kept burning and which mark the passage of time in conjunction with the water clocks. Such are the primitive means which the Crimese possess for becoming acquainted with astronomical subjects, and though the history of Chinese astronomy bignus with that of the empire yet the vast majority still believe that the earth is the immovable center of the world. -- New York World.

THE POPE AND HIS WORK. What He Has Accomplished of Unity and

What Remains to Be Done. If Leo XIII were 50 instead of 84, he might hops to change the face of Christendom. His weal, his faith, his persistent passent of unity could hardly fail to leave their mark upon events. Even in the 16 years of his pontificate he has achieved more than it seemed possible for a pope treompass. He has made peace with the Fr : h republic and the Russian evan, and it he has not effected a reconciliation with the kingdom of le vitis because he has satisfied himself that to do so would be premature and mexpedient. He has, in a large measure, the imagination vithout which no great object is ever attained. What to less hopeful souls seems like a dream is to him a present reality. He looks out over the world, and he is not in the least daunted by the weary spectacle that meets his gaze. He sees dissension and schism all around him, but he sets to work to bring unity out of confusion as cheerfully as though his object were already half attained.

His eyes are turned at one and at the same time on England, on the east and and on the United States. To each in turn he holds out an invitation to come back to his fold; for each is turn he does his utmost to make reconciliation easier. If reunion were purely a question of temper, we should set the greatest possible store by his efforts. But though a soft answer may turn away wrath it is powerless to generate conviction. What stands between the pope and those whom he addresses is difference of belief. What to one is a self evident truth is to the other a contradiction of history. The conception of church authority which underlies the papal appeals is radically different from that which commends itself to the Orthodox eastern, to the Anglican, to the Protestant. The pope hardly understands, however, that before any of these can come as suppliants to his feet they must be sure of something more than a kindly welcome. They must have undergone an intellectual conversion. They must have been convinced by papal arguments, not merely conciliated by papal kindness.-London Spectator.

CNLY A "PROPERTY."

Yet It Was the Most Terrible Figure In the Levow Investigation.

The scene in the courtroom at the final session of the Lexow committee after adjournment had been announced >thus described by the New York World:

Presently there was a rush of handshakers for the weary arm of Mr. Goff. Then everybody moved for the door. One by one the actors made their exit. The senators were among the first. Among them it was: "Goodby, Jake!" "So long, Saxton, old man!" "T'll ser you directly, Clarence!" "Take care of yourself, Uncle Dan!" And soon all of the great figures were gone, except Byrnes. He pulled his hat over his eyes and stood about, made a few steps, lingered, hesitated, glanced around and at last slipped out among the last to leave

But there was one figure that remained, stand in after the last person had left, after the lights were out. This figure was, in one sense, only a "property," but in another sense it was a terrible personality, one upon which all men who came into that room have cas looks of awe and some men looks of terror. That figure was the witness chair, with its inclosing arms and its high back. It looked less harmless and was far more terrible than those iron chairs of the mediæval torture rooms.

Senator Bradley had made a motion. It was to the effect that the committee should ask the city of New York for the chair in which the Lexow witnesses sat and should make a present of it to Dr. Parkhurst.

Mr. Goff announced that he had already applied for the chair, and that if he got it he was going to give it to Dr. Parkhurst.

An Echo of the Battle of Pcz Ridge.

William Jones, an old and well known citizen of Delano, Madison county, Ark., had a rather exciting adventure on the morning of Dec. 4. He, with his son, William, had been making a tour of five or six counties east of this in a two horse wagon, and on their return they camped for the night on Pca Ridge battlefield. On arising in the morning they made a big leg fire and were waiting for their breakfast when a tremendous cuplo ion took place. A chunk of wood struck the old gentleman on the head, knocking him down, from the campfire struck the younger man on the shoulders. Daylight revealed a hole 6 or 8 inches deep, where a 10 or 12 pound pariott shell had been reposing underground ever since the battle fought March 7 and 8, 1862, nearly 33 years ago. With the exception of a dent in the tire of the wagon and a broken felly no further damage was done, and after catching the horses that had run away the old gentleman gathered up a few pieces of the shell for mementoand proceeded on his journey. -St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Vigorous Swordfish.

The Norwegian bark Lorenzo, which recently arrived at Pensacola, Fla., had a sample of the strength of a swordfish. Through the metal sheathing of her hull, then through six inches of planking and penetrating the inner ceiling about three mehes the fish had driven its snout, or "sword," the result being a leak which kept the crew at the pumps for six hours a day. The sword was about 213 inches in circumference at the point and 5 inches at the end where it had broken of, the piece being about 20 inches long.

ECCENTRICITIES OF DICKENS.

Bis Dread of Rollway Traveling-Strange Mirror Antics.

In some interesting "Recollections of Charles Dickens," in The Young Man, his eldest daughter tells how, after the railway accident which befell the novel ist in 1865, he often suffered from a feeling of intense dread whenever he found himself in any kind of convey-

"Or soccasion," slre says, "I specially recail. While we were on our way from London to our little country station Higham, where the carriage was to meet us, my father suddenly clutched the arms of the railway carriage seat, while his face grew ashy pale, and great drops of perspiration stood upon his forehead, and though he tried to master the dread it was so strong that he had to leave the train at the next station. The accident had left its impression upon the memory, and it was destined never to be effaced.

Miss Dickens, when an invalid, was frequently carried into her father's study and lay quietly on the sofa watching the novelist at work. On these occasions she was sometimes witness of a curious proceeding in which the novelist indulged:

"Suddenly my father would jump from his chair and rush to a mirror which hung near, and in which I could see the reflection of some extraordinary facial contortions which he was making. He returned rapidly to his desk, wrote furiously for a few minutes, and then went again to the mirror. The facial pantomime was resumed, and then, turning toward but evidently not seeing me, he began talking rapidly in a low tone. Ceasing this soon, however, he returned once more to his desk, where he remained silently writing until luncheon time. It was not till long afterward that Miss Dickens discovered that, with his natural intensity, her father had thrown himself into the character that he was creating, "and that for the time being he had not only lost sight of his surroundings, but had actually become in action, as in imagination, the personality of his peu."

CANALS OF THE FUTURE.

They Will Be Large Enough For the Handling of a Heavy Business.

The history of the struggle between canals of small dimensions and of railroads has been the same in all countries. The fight raged bitterly for a number of years, the canals acting on the defensive, although they had as allies the states under whose patronage they were built and operated. The result has been the same in all cases—the unconditional surrender of the canals to the railroads. This, however, is not so much the fault of the system as of their management. The railroads have great advantages over canals. They are better able to abridge distances both by reason of superior speed and of facilities for overcoming, elevations, spanning streams, free from danger of destructive floods, and piercing through the highest mountains. but their great success is mainly due to the fact that they have kept pace with the progress of the world.

Waterways built from the beginning | et McMonagle & Rogers Drug Store the eighteenth century to quarter of the inneteenth century were regarded ample to meet the requirements of trade at the time they were constructed, and there was in many instances a progressive improvement in their dimensions and appurtenances. But while the industrial, agricultural and commercial developments of the world have advanced to proportions not dreamed of a century ago canals have remained stationary. They are now obsolete and can no longer fulfill the requirements of cheap transportation in competition with railroads. The canals of the future must have the dimensions and the facilities for rapid transport to adapt them to the new conditions of commerce. They must not be barge or boat canals, but ample waterways for the free passage of such ships as are now engaged in carrying the world's trade. Of such canals we have now some important types in successful operation, and others in process of construction or in completion. -Chautauquan.

Eloquence Interrupted.

During a political campaign, a well known lawyer in a western state was addressing an audience composed principally of farmers. Like a wise speaker -and a shrewd candidate-he tried to suit his speech to the occasion.

In a tone which the evidently considered both cordial and honest, and with a winning smile, he began:

"My friends, my sympathies have always been with the tillers of the soil. My father was a practical farmer, and so was my grandfather before him. I myself was born on a farm and was, so to speak, reared between two stalks of Here his eloquence was rudely interrupted by the trumpet tones of a farmer in the rear of the hall "Jimminy crickets!" he shouted, "if Rubinstein's Charity.

Rubinstein had probably traveled more than other any virtueso. In his time he made many fortunes and gave them away to the poor in Russia. During the famine which raged among the Russian peasants a few years ago he journeyed to Vienna, Moscow and St. Petersburg to play for charity. The price of scars rose to tanheard of figures, but every penny of the money went to the starving farmers. It is said that in the course of 25 years the sum which he thus disposed of amounted to $250,000.

Mr. Smith went to Newburgh, and when Gillespie, Frank Mack and McDonnell took the stolen property to the Hillside City to sell, they were asked where they obtained the same and wilted at once and confessed. One divulged on the other, and Edward Mack was arrested by Constable Williams, of Walden, on Saturday night. They confess having stolen twenty-five bushels of potatoes and twenty turkeys from a farmer residing near Graham's Church. The men were not suspected as thieves and their detection and arrest is a great surprise.

A CHOIR BOY A WINNER.

John Robshaw Held the Check that Drew Five Bollars at the Casino.

John Robshaw, a member of the boy choir of Grace Church, was the winner of the five dollar greenback, given away at the Casino, last night. Each person entering the theatre was given a numbered check, and at the close of the performance a boy was called from the audience, who drew a check from a box centaining duplicate numbers.

The first number drawn was 1,000. but the owner was either absent or would not make himself known, and after a reasonable time it was declared forfeited. A second check was then drawn, and the number, which was 1,013, was no sooner announced than a voice from the gallery shouted, "I've got it," and John Robshaw rushed down stairs to the stage, where the money was handed to him.

DAMAGES FOR FALSE ARREST.

Watter Van Ness, of summitville, Paid Twency-five Dollars for Being Arrest ed as a Harness Thief's Accomplice.

Walter Van Ness, a colored resident of Summitville, was arrested on or about August 14th last, upon suspicion of having been implicated with Dennis Holbert in the mary thefts of harness which occurred about that time. Holbert was arrested upon information given by Van Ness, and at his trial was convicted and is now serving a three and a half years' sentence in state prison.

Van Ness was arrested at his home by Constable Travis, and taken before Justice Shaw, of Circleville, where he pleaded not guilty and was released in forty dollars bonds. A few days afterward he was notified that the charge had been withdrawn, and his bonosmen were released. This, however, did not satisfy Van Ness and he consulted with his lawyer, with the result that to-day he received twenty-five dollars in settlement of his claim for damages, from one of the parties who brought about his arrest. He says he will make all who were parties to his arrest settle with him; also a newspaper which published an account of his arrest and hearing.

He Is an Eccentric Man and Insists Upon Having His Way In the Sickroom. Dr. Zacharin, who has been treating the ezar, is known as one of the most ampolite men-to use no stronger expression-in his profession. He is a Her, a democrat and has respect for no me. Like Professor Schweninger, the physician of Dismarck, he insists upon the literal execution of his orders, it matters not who the patient may be, and will brook no interference. He is a rian of middle age and began life as a butcher boy. He has become one of the richest men in Russia by his practice.

When the malady of the czar began to look erious a few weeks ago, the emperor at once asked that Zacharin be sent for. A telegram was dispatched to the governor of Moscow, says one of the imperial attendants in the Copenhagen Politiken, ordering him to send Zacharin to St. Petersburg. The adjutant of the governor found the professor in his clime and asked him to make as rapid preparations as possible, as the fast train would leave the city for the capital in a tew hours

Three body physicians stood about the room. Zacharin entered the room, made his obeisance to the imperial pair, but almost totally disregarded the breeding. And in this atmosphere you allow Russia's sick emperor to lie? Quick! Put back the curtains and raise the windows." Such was his first order. He than became silent and began a thorough examination of his patient. Then, taking a chair, he rested his arm on his knee and began to think. Now, if God clothes in this way even the wild plants which today are living and tomorrow are to be made fuel for the oven, will be not much rather clothe you, you men of little faith? Do not then trouble yourselves with such questions as what are we to eat, what are we to drink, what are we to wear. For all these things are what the heathen nations make their aim. England's Temperance Party.

The temperance party have given the government notice privately that they refuse to tolerate any delay next session in passing the bill giving local control over the liquor trade, a measure which Gladstone recently denounced as impracticable. The threat has some political importance, because there are about a dozen extreme temperance men in the house of commons, who, although Liberals, are prepared to vote against the government if they should be further fooled on this question. Their allegiance to the party is certain to be put to the breaking strain test, because the whole time of the next session is already virtually pledged to other matters.—London Letter.

The next case was G. P. Fowers vs. H. O'Neil and another. Wm. S. Bennet is counsel for plaintiff, Isaac Fromme, of New York, appears for the defense. The suit is against the big Sixth avenue firm of H. O Neil & Co. Mrs. Jannie Powers, of Middletown, while in the O'Neil store on May 1st, last, purchasing a hat, placed a pocket book containing seventy-five dollars, upon the counter. When she lifted the hat she had placed over the purse, she found the latter was gone. She immediately notified the saleslady, who in turn called the floor walker. But Mrs. Powers thinks that no attempt was really made to help find the purse. Hence the suit.

NO EXCUSE FOR DEBILITY AND NERVOUSNESS.

What Palue's Celery Compound Boes in a Few Short Weeks-It Takes a Tre mendous Difference With Tired, Sickly Women-

From the Boston Herald.

In thousands of homes some one, father, mother or bro ber, is actually dying from starvation of the nerves and blood. This lack of nutrition of some vital part is not usually called by the harsh word "starvation," but it amounts to the same thing. It is called dyspensia, neuralgia, Bright's disease, rheumatism or nervous pros-

This general feeling of discomfort throughout the body shows a literal starvation of some of the important organs of the body, either heart, kidneys, stomach, liver, or nerve cer-

Scores of men and women showing their first grey hair, who in business and society wear a smiling counterance, are tormented in private by a despondency they can scarcely explain, which renders their life almost unendurable. Such mental depression, falling short of insanity, occurs fire and got a very nice hat. It just | most often at the "turning point" of life, or soon after it, and is a lamentably common complaint.

After middle life the body often becomes bloodless, the nerve tissues impoverished. Then Paine's celery compound supplies building material for used-up blood and nerves, it makes people strong, raddy and well. It regulates the nerves, feeds their wasted, exhausted parts, purifies the brings back strength and health. It is upon women that the great burden of tiring, exhausting and petty duties fall.

Hundredsof homes might be saved from sickness and unhappiness if the wife or the husband, or some member of the family would only see how near aid and comfort is to the dear and relaxing their interest in the things about them, preparatory to leaving them forever. Paine's colery compound is within the reach of every home in the land where there is illness. It has met the unqualified approval of reputable physicians of every school.

ONTARIO AND WESTERN DIVIDEND Directors May Declare One on the Common Stock, the Ontario and Western Railway Company was organized in 1879, $2,000,000 of preferred stock was leaued to holders of Midland receivers' certificates, the preferred stock being given the right to elect eight of the thirteen directors of the company. In 1885 the company was empowered to issue first mortgage bonds for preferred stock, the stock thus surrendered being held by five trustees, who were to east its vote until the entire issue was exchanged or a dividend on the common stock was declared. Sixty shares of the preferred stock are still outstanding.

The directors have recently been considering the advisability of declaring a small dividend on the common stock and thus terminating the voting trust. The company's business and earnings have steadily increased and its surplus will warrant a small dividend. President Fowler will sail for Europe shortly to consult the English directors and large share holders on the subject.

Excelsior II, and L. Company's Social,

The third of the series of socials given by Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company, which was held in the truck house, last evening, was one of the most successful ever held by this company. There were twenty tables in use by the card players, the fortunate favor winners being Mrs. Geo. Dorrance and Mr. W. N. Knapp. Refreshments and dancing followed whist, the music being furnished by Mesers. Stevens, Roescher and Vollmer.

Cooper DeGraw,

Ex-Coroner of Orange county, says: "I took treatment of Drs. Jones & Potter during March and April, 1891, which completely cured me of a bad rupture. I continued my work during treatment, and worked hard all summer. I have not worn my truss for past six months.'

A DVERTISE YOUR WANTS IN THE DAILY ARGUS.

AN INTELLIGENT PIG.

It Objects to Being Disposed of by Chance-Twice Escapes From the Its Owner and Finds a snug Corner in an Erie Tower,

The young pig that will be given away at the Casino, to-night, (if it can be found when the time to dispose of it arrives) has caused its present owner lots of trouble.

Sunday it escaped from the rink at the Madison house. It was found that night under the West Main street tower, half frozen, and taken up stairs and placed by the stove, where it slept contentedly until yesterday afternoon, when it was returned to the Madison House.

Last night, the pig was taken to the Casino and shortly before the close of the performance, the macager ordered it brought before the curtain to introduce it to the audience, but it had disappeared and could not be found, although the whole building was searched.

The pig had not forgotten its eczy corner behind the stove in the Erie tower and after it escaped from the Casino started in search of it and finally made its way there, where it was found this morning.

The winner of the animal might make his fortune by educating it, for, it appears to be no ordinary pig, and is deserving a better fate than to be served up as roast pig.
